What is CCDC

OUR MISSION

The mission of the Collegiate Cyber Defense Competition (CCDC) system is to provide institutions with an information assurance or computer security curriculum a controlled, competitive environment to assess their students' depth of understanding and operational competency in managing the challenges inherent in protecting a corporate network infrastructure and business information systems.

Assess competitors' understanding of critical business infrastructure

Challenge competitors' ability to manage, maintain, and protect business infrastructures

Promote & Champion competitors in the workforce through exposure to industry professionals

HISTORY

While similar to other cyber defense competitions in many aspects, the CCDC is unique because it focuses on the operational aspect of managing and protecting an existing network infrastructure. Other exercises examine the abilities of a group of students to design, configure, and protect a network over the course of an entire semester; however, this competition is focused on the more operational task of assuming administrative and protective duties for an existing “commercial” network.

2005

In an effort to help facilitate the development of a regular, national level cybersecurity competition, the Center for Infrastructure Assurance and Security (CIAS) at The University of Texas at San Antonio agreed to host the first Collegiate Cyber Defense Competition (CCDC) for the Southwestern region in April of 2005.

2006

The following year CCDC expanded beyond the Southwest region to include the Midwest, (MWCCDC) Northeast (NECCDC), and Southeast (SECCDC) regions. The first National Collegiate Cyber Defense Competition was held in San Antonio, Texas in April 2006.

2010

On June 28, 2010, Congress passed House Resolution 1244 to commend the CIAS for its development of the NCCDC, the competition's role in promoting cybersecurity curricula in institutions of higher education, and the efforts of UTSA and the greater San Antonio area to promote the cybersecurity industry in Texas

2012

The 2012 NCCDC expanded to ten regions across the United States, including the At-Large (ALCCDC) regional which covers Alaska and Hawaii. The Dakotas, Montana, and Wyoming were eventually absorbed into the ALCCDC, and a Wildcard Competition was added allowing all 2nd place teams to compete for a last stand chance to take part in NCCDC.

2015

By 2015, the CCDC had grown to over 200 colleges and universities with over 2000 competitors and the NCCDC, with Raytheon, hosted the first NCCDC Champion's Tour in Washington, DC.

2020

In 2020 and 2021, the CCDC and the NCCDC converted to virtual events to adapt to a global pandemic. While most CCDC regions and NCCDC have returned to physical events across the country, CCDC events remain prepared for any circumstance. All qualifying rounds and the ALCCDC are run virtually.

VISION

Recognize – we recognize our CCDC sponsors on a national stage, across diverse business and technology platforms using a variety of progressive approaches

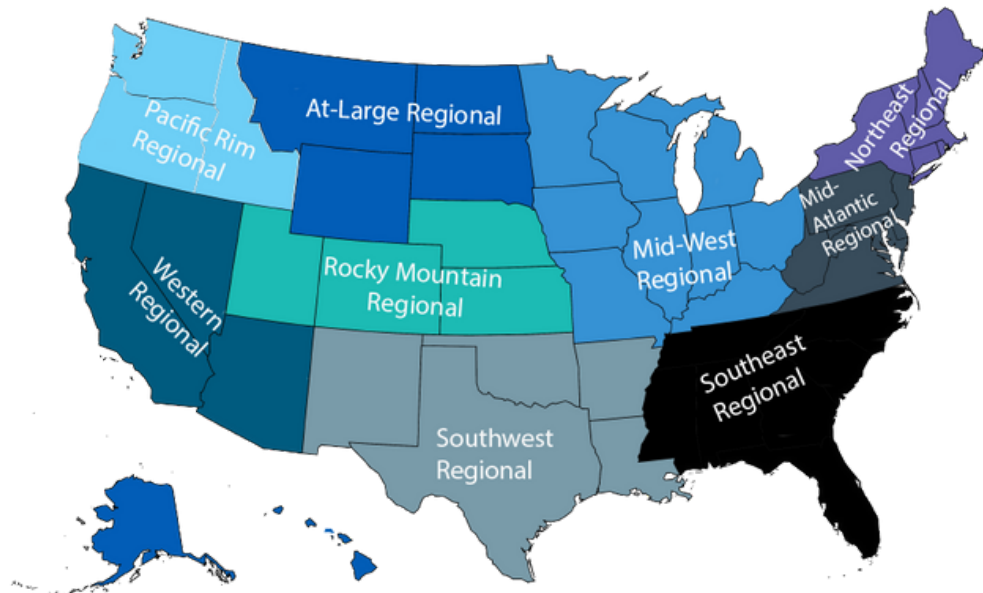

Participate – CCDC sponsors have a unique opportunity to engage competitors directly in the competition and as potential employers and mentors

Promote – CCDC sponsors can promote their organizations through direct contact with peers and customers both onsite during competition play and through marketing materials shared through a variety of channels

THE COLLEGIATE CYBER DEFENSE COMPETITION

The CCDC is comprised of nine regions across the country and is a coalition effort where each region is run by regional partners. Each region hosts qualifying and regional competitions for their geographic areas. The winners from all nine regions, and a Wild Card winner from 2nd place teams, go on to compete in the National Collegiate Cyber Defense Competition (NCCDC) in the Spring.

COMPETITORS

CCDC is comprised of teams from any interested two- or four-year college or university that consist of up to 8 students with no more than 2 graduate students on any team. Each competitor must be a full-time student. Only one team per institution is permitted each CCDC season.

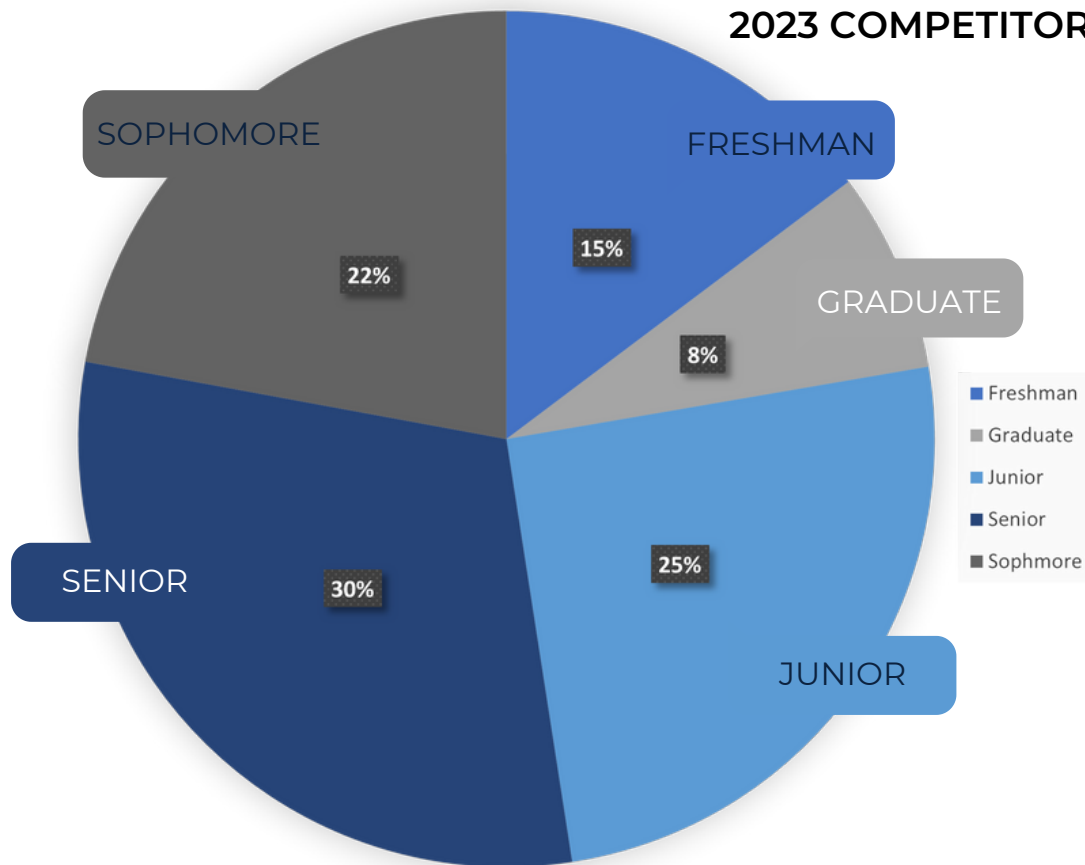

Teams must be sponsored by a coach in a department faculty or staffed position at the competing university.

Teams designate a Team Captain for the duration of the competition to act as liaison between the competition staff and the teams before and during the competition.

COMPETITION GAME PLAY

- Multi-day competition with 8 or more hours of competition time each day
- Competitors are given an operational network they must secure, operate, and defend
- Supported by White (Judge), Orange (Customer), Red (Adversary), and OPS Teams
- Teams are limited in their external hardware, software and Internet access to ensure a level playing field
- Teams are scored based on their ability to detect and respond to outside threats, maintain availability of existing services such as mail servers and web servers, respond to business requests such as the addition or removal of additional services, and balance security needs against business needs
